INTRODUCTION

A Joint Comprehensive Plan for Gilmer County and the Cities of Ellijay and East Ellijay, 2014-2034 has been prepared in accordance with the Rules of Georgia department of Community Affairs, Chapter 110-12-1, Minimum Standards and Procedures for Comprehensive Planning (effective March 1, 2014). This joint comprehensive plan consists of the three core elements (i.e., Community Goals, Needs and Opportunities, and Community Work Program) and an additional two elements (i.e., Capital Improvements Element and Land Use Element) as required by Section 110-12-1-.02(1) of the Minimum Standards and Procedures.

The DCA's Minimum Standards and Procedures for Local Comprehensive Planning emphasize preparation of plans that help local governments address their immediate needs and opportunities while moving toward realization of their long-term goals. In order to maintain qualified local government certification, and thereby remain eligible for selected state funding and permitting programs, each local government must prepare, adopt, maintain, and implement a comprehensive plan as specified in these standards and procedures.

The comprehensive plan is not regulation that binds the citizens of Gilmer County rather it is a guide to local decision-making.

COMMUNITY GOALS

The purpose of the Community Goals element is to lay out a road map for the community's future, developed through a public process of involving community leaders and stakeholders in making key decisions about the future of the community. The Community Goals identify the community's direction for the future and are intended to generate local pride and enthusiasm about the future of the community, thereby leading citizens and leadership to act to ensure that the plan is implemented. The Community Goals element must include at least one or a combination of any of four components as follows: (a) general vision statement, (b) list of community goals, (c) community policies, and (d) character areas and defining narrative. For this plan, the Community Goals element includes a list of goals the community seeks to achieve and policies selected to provide ongoing guidance and direction to local government officials for making decisions consistent with achieving the Community Goals. The goals and policies that follow are listed under one of seven planning categories.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS ELEMENT

A Capital Improvements Element is required for communities that charge development impact fees. The Capital Improvements Element annual update for SFY 2014, included here, has been prepared based on the Development Impact Fee Act (DIFA), the Development Impact Fee Compliance Requirements (DCA Rules 110-12-2), and the Minimum Standards and Procedures for Local Comprehensive Planning (DCA Rules 110-12-1). These documents dictate the essential components of an annual update: (1) an impact fee financial report and (2) a five-year schedule of capital improvements.

LAND USE ELEMENT

The Land Use Element includes a copy of the Future Land Use Map, showing standard land use categories, and provides an explanation of how the Future Land Use Map is to be interpreted in terms of those categories. These categories will play an important role in determining the direction of the future growth of the County and its Cities.

To a large extent, land use has been determined historically by the County's topography; the presence of National Forest lands; the highway system, especially Georgia Highway 515; resort development potential; the historical happenstances leading to the locations of the two cities and various settlements; and any number of other variables.

Gilmer County is also characterized by sensitive areas, including the Blue Ridge Environmental Corridor, which has high value in its natural state, sheltering wildlife habitat, important watersheds, and other ecologically significant features. The high elevation panoramic landscapes also contribute to local economies, bringing tourism and second home and retiree revenue.

Also noteworthy are the Chattahoochee National Forest lands. Of the nine counties in Northwest Georgia in which the forest is located, Gilmer County has the greatest acreage. These forested areas support hunting, hiking, fishing, horseback riding, swimming, camping, and many more activities that help drive the economy.

Gilmer County is also the location of parts of two significant publically owned Wildlife Management Areas, Cohutta and Rich Mountain. These areas provide public access to lands suited to hunting, fishing, and other important recreational activities.

Much of the commercial development in the county is centered on Georgia Highway 515, especially within the corporate limits of East Ellijay. The historic core of Ellijay is also home to a significant concentration of commercial activity, and outside of the cities, Highways 282 and 52 East also support considerable commercial activity, including convenience stores and the apple houses that have an almost iconic status in Gilmer County.

While agriculture has declined in importance in the county, it is still a significant economic engine, and tends to be located in alluvial areas along waterways including the Ellijay and Cartecay rivers and Mountaintown Creek.

The categories and descriptions below are based on the Department of Community Affairs' Minimum Standards and Procedures for Local Comprehensive Planning that came into effect on March 1, 2014.

Residential - This category includes land used for single family and multi-family residential uses. Just over 24% of projected future land uses in the county qualify as residential, making it the third largest category of projected land use in 2034.

Urban neighborhood in Ellijay

Commercial - This category includes land used for non-industrial business uses, including retail sales, office, service, and entertainment facilities. Commercial uses may be located as a single use in one building or grouped together in a shopping center or office building. Despite high visibility in certain areas, Commercial represents only 1.22% of projected future land use in the county.

Commercial development along Georgia Highway 515

Industrial - This classification includes land dedicated to manufacturing facilities, processing plants, factories, warehousing and wholesale trade facilities, mining or mineral extraction activities, or other similar uses. Industrial uses are projected to occupy only 0.08% of Gilmer County's land mass in 2034.

Industry in Ellijay

Fire station

Public/Institutional - This grouping includes certain state, federal, or local government uses, and institutional land uses. Public uses include city halls and government building complexes, police and fire stations, libraries, prisons, post offices, schools, military installations, etc. Examples of institutional land uses include colleges, churches, cemeteries, and hospitals. Just 0.47% of Gilmer County's projected future land use falls within this category.

Electric substation

Transportation/Communication/Utilities - This category includes such uses as roads, public transit stations, power generation plants, railroad facilities, radio towers, telephone switching stations, airports, or other similar uses. Only 0.11% of the county's land is projected to be taken up by these uses in 2034.

Entrance to Wildlife Management Area

Park/Recreation/Conservation - These usages include land dedicated to active or passive recreational uses. These areas may be either publicly or privately owned and may include playgrounds, public parks, nature preserves, wildlife management areas, national forests, golf courses, recreation centers, or similar uses. These uses are projected to account for 25.16% of the county's land mass in 2034, making it the second largest category of projected future land use.

Agriculture/Forestry - This grouping includes land dedicated to agriculture, farming, orchards, viticulture, or other similar rural uses, as well land dedicated to commercial timber or pulpwood harvesting. It comprises 48.77% of the county's projected future land use, making it by far the most common land application.
